

Answer Key:

1. Ok, that's an easy one: Ottawa and Washington D.C.
2. Again, a no-brainer: Donald Trump, Barack Obama, and George W. Bush; the second part might be a bit more difficult: Justin Trudeau, Stephen Harper, and Paul Martin.
3. To pick 10 out of 50 is easy, but to pick 5 out of 10 might be a bit more difficult. These are the Canadian provinces: The 10 Canadian provinces are Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Labrador, Nova Scotia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, and Saskatchewan.
4. Again, you pick (for instance, Grand Canyon, Yellowstone National Park, Disneyworld and, for Canada, the Rockies, CN Tower, Banff National Park).
5. The U.S. is the third-largest country in the world; Canada comes in second.
6. The U.S. is a sport-loving nation; although Americans excel in many sports, they love baseball and American football most. Canadians, on the other hand, are crazy about hockey (not called ice-hockey in Canada!) and Lacrosse (played with net and ball).

7. c) and a)
8. a)
9. Alaska (1.718 million km²)
10. Nunavut (2.093 million km²)
11. b) and a)
12. All three – William Shatner (here shown as Captain Kirk), Pamela Anderson (of Bay Watch, and Kiefer Sutherland (of 24) – are Canadian citizens; Pamela Anderson also has the American citizenship.
13. c) and b)
14. In 1492, Christopher Columbus reached the Bahamas; the first Europeans to land in what is now Canada (L'Anse aux Meadows) were the Vikings at around 1000 A.D. (Leif Eriksson).
15. The general term for the indigenous populations of Canada keeps changing; right now, the most commonly used name is Aboriginal People (for First Nations, Métis, and Inuit); in the States, the term Native Americans has remained relatively stable over the years.
16. U.S. Dollar and Canadian Dollar.
17. Again, take your pick: the UNITED NATIONS, UNICEF, UNITED STATES—MEXICO—CANADA Agreement, NATO, WHO (oops, sorry, Trump just decided to leave).
